

Life is fragile...

I am the moth that died,
Trying to find the light.

I drowned,
In the angst that followed
my life...

I lost my wings,
Beating them against
things

I could not change,
And died in the wax
That clogged the candle
of my life.